

EML spreads its wings

The economic downturn is not a significant factor for EML, a subsidiary of the Zest Group of companies.

EML, sole importer of Dutchi electric motors, has built its admirable reputation in South Africa over 15 years and its ongoing success has led to a move to new premises to cater for a growing clientele and product range.

The company has translocated to premises in Epping which it is sharing with IMS, also a Zest Group company.

The 8000 m<sup>2</sup> facility has provided the much-needed space for both EML and IMS, the latter of which has been builds generator sets, maintains marine propulsion systems and provides global diesel services to maritime customers.

James Blakemore, chairman of the Zest Group says the new facility will greatly enhance and streamline EML's services. "The counter sales facility includes a comfortable waiting area for customers while stock is being pulled. Our own efficiencies will be improved by two offloading bays which will enhance receiving of stock in containers. There is ample parking and the size of the yard space allows trucks to turn with ease.”

The cherry on top is that the building, designed by Clive Bezer, has been designated a “Green Building”, a recognition of Zest’s environmental awareness.

Zest’s Drives Division is also set to benefit from the move through a fully equipped drives training centre. Customers who wish to attend training sessions on WEG soft starters and WEG variable speed drives are invited to contact Jeff Smith on 021 551 2710.

EML’s new address is: No 13 Benbow Ave, Gunner Circle Epping I. Telephone 021 507 7200. Fax 021 507 7252. Postal addresses and emails remain unchanged.
